LEARN ABOUT INFORMAL SETTLEMENTS IN NAIROBI, KENYA

Roughly 2 million people are living in informal settlements in Nairobi.

The city's population has grown from .51 to 4.40 million in the past 50 years.

Despite making up half of the population of Nairobi, informal settlements are crammed into only 5% of residential areas and 1% of all the land in the city.

WHAT ARE THE CHALLENGES?

1

Lack of public services

This includes clean water, health care and proper sanitation and drainage.

2

High rates of unemployment and crime

Roughly 48% of the unemployed resort to crime to make ends meet.

3

Lack of electricity

Lack of government services cause people to find their own power sources. This increases risk of fires.
